ENT PROVIDER LIST

Ear, nose and throat doctors we work with

Bloom Therapy Group | Myo · Feeding · Speech Therapy

Breathing, sleep, feeding and speech are closely connected. When we notice signs that the airway, ears, tonsils or adenoids may be part of the picture, we may recommend a visit with an ear, nose and throat doctor (ENT). These are local ENTs we work with and trust.

When we may suggest an ENT visit

- Snoring, noisy breathing or pauses in breathing during sleep
- Mouth breathing or an open-mouth resting posture during the day
- Large tonsils or adenoids, or frequent sore throats
- Frequent ear infections, fluid in the ears or concerns about hearing
- Ongoing stuffy nose or congestion

Good to know

- Please check with the ENT's office about insurance and whether a referral from your pediatrician is needed before scheduling.
- With your permission, we're happy to share our evaluation findings with your ENT so everyone is on the same page.
- Let us know after your visit. ENT findings can shape your child's therapy plan.
